TVA FIRE & LIFE SAFETY HITS A HOME RUN AT BUSCH STADIUM

February 8, 2005 – St. Louis, MO – TVA Fire & Life Safety, Inc., (TVA) one of the country's leading providers of products and services in fire protection engineering, consulting, loss control, and project management, announced that it has sponsored a brick in the new Busch Stadium for the St. Louis Cardinals.

“Our company has a long tradition of civic involvement. We are proud to support the St. Louis Cardinals and the local community, and are thrilled to make a contribution to this exciting project,” said James Tomes, co-chairman and chief executive officer.

TVA sponsored the brick in order to help underwrite the expenses for the construction of the stadium. The purchase falls under the umbrella of the St. Louis Cardinals Brick Program.

The company's brick will read as follows:

TVA FIRE & LIFE
SAFETY, INC.
SUPPORTS THE CARDINALS

The stadium will open in April 2006. It will cost approximately $344.8 million to build, $45 million of which is a long-term loan from St. Louis County.

“The new Busch Stadium is an important piece in St. Louis' revitalization efforts. All of us at TVA feel privileged to help fund this historic and important endeavor,” added John Campbell, regional director of TVA Fire & Life Safety.
